South China Freight Transport Guide 2001 English & Chinese Editions

A Hong Kong Shippers' Council publication

The South China Freight Transport Guide 2001 edition is an expanded version of the Guangdong Hong Kong Freight Transport Guide that was first published in 1992. The 2001 edition covers not only the all-important province of Guangdong but the surrounding provinces of Fujian, Guangxi and Hainan as well. The Council's consultants carried out an extensive study on the carriage of goods between Southern China and Hong Kong. The Guide editions, through the years, have become an invaluable reference tool used by the industry in carrying out the transportation of cargo through southern China to Hong Kong. Information on routes and mode of transport, the nature and scale of transport and service charges, and the names and details of service providers in the four southern provinces are provided.
